All other expenses and maintenance are classified to the profit and loss account in the finacial period in which they are incurred Increases in the carrying amount arising from revaluation are credited to a revaluation surplus in equity.

Decreases that offset period increases of the same asset are charged against the revaluation surplus.

All other decreases are charged in the profit and loss account

 25.00%

The carrying values of property, plant and equipment are reviewed for impairment when events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying values may not be recoverable on impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the assets carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the higher of the assets fair value less
